User Guide – Navigating in the PESA

There are several ways to move around within the PESA tool in general and while using the actual practice test.

In the PESA generally:

1. Hyperlinks: Generally, whenever you see text in blue within the PESA, it means that you will be directed to a different section if you click on the text. Clicking on these hyperlinks is the main way to navigate through the PESA, including within the actual practice tests.

Using PESA Version A
It is recommended that you start with PESA Version A.
Version A is timed so that you can experience the pace of the CMRE. Since there are about a third of the number of questions as on the CMRE, you have been given a third of the time. This version will stop allowing you to answer questions 2 hours and 30 minutes after you begin the attempt.
Only once you have completed the test, will you gain access to your score. You will also see a description of why each answer that you chose is correct or incorrect. If you got a question right, you will also see the references that were used during the development of the question in case you would like further information about the correct response.
Passing this practice exam does NOT guarantee that you will pass the CMRE.

Using PESA Versions B and C
Versions B and C are provided for applicants that prefer to practice answering the questions without a time limitation (B & C)

2. Vertical Scroll Bar: If there is more information on a page than fits in your internet window/computer screen, you will see a scroll bar on the right side of the window. Left-click and hold the blue bar, and drag it downwards to see information lower on the page. [The PESA will adjust to the width of your window; if the window is extremely narrow, it will produce a horizontal scroll bar.]

Versions B and C are provided for applicants that prefer to practice answering the questions without a time limitation (B & C) and with immediate access to feedback about each response chosen (C). As noted earlier, all three versions (A, B, and C) have the same set of questions.
Version B
Version B has no time limits, and can be completed in one or more sittings. Only once you have completed the test, will you gain access to your score and see the explanation associated with each answer that you chose. In case you would like further information about the question, references are included in the explanation for each correct response.
Version C
Version C has no time limits, and can be completed in one or more sittings.
At any time during your session you can have a question or a page marked (with correct response shown if you got the question wrong), and see the explanations associated with the responses you chose. When you have completed the test, it will be marked and the explanations will be shown for your responses. In case you would like further information about the question, references are included in the explanation for each correct response.
Version C can be used to see the explanations for all possible responses for each question, but requires selecting and submitting each response separately within each question.
